Dedication

While students rush off to class worrying about grades and while teachers stand in file waiting for the copy machine it is sometimes easy to forget that our community extends out beyond Ocean and Geneva, beyond Howth and the Highway. Lick-Wilmerding reaches beyond the past and into the future. All at once our roots link us to generations gone by and strengthen those to come.

This ongoing process of renewal and growth we aptly call Development. Development is about making connections—between people and a very special place. Development is also about time—making sure the past has a vested interest in the future. All these links, connections, and roots come together in unity. They come together in the head, heart, and hands of one very unique woman—Sandy Drew. As the Director of Development Sandy binds the present with the past and the future through ensuring the connections that make Lick-Wilmerding a community. Sandy reaches out each day to make sure that people will not forget—Besides how could one possibly forget someone as sweet, savvy, and sassy as only she could be.

HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

Dear Class of '99,
Your extraordinary Senior Retreat Mural says it all. What a wonderful and distinct class you are! Smart, articulate, creative, passionate, individualistic, and, simultaneously, committed to a spirit of community.

The two multicolored spirals at the mural's center speak volumes about your sense of wonder and ever-expanding horizons, and the nearby yin/yang symbol reflects your quest for balance and for the elegant integration of opposites. Your names, written in a countless variety of scripts and four languages, portray your uniqueness as people. At the same time, their comfortable inclusion within the bounds of the mural conveys the close relationship you have with one another.

One of your murals homilies that caught my eye and seems to capture you best:

> Work like you don't need the money.
> Love like you've never been hurt.
> Dance as if no one is watching.

You have worked hard and well during your four years on Ocean Avenue. You have loved life and one another with boundless enthusiasm.. and you have choreographed a remarkable dance for both soloists and the entire ensemble. You have made your mark on Lick, and will, I know, continue to do so in the larger world.

Don't forget to wear you seatbelts and your bike helmets. I wish you wonderful, productive, and fulfilling lives.

PREMIERE

We all sometimes wish we were stars. We hope to be discovered and become famous whether it be for singing, dancing, acting, or whatever our specialty is. But none of us experience Hollywood everyday. That is why Lick takes its pride in picking and choosing people who are stars in their own personal way. Each of us has incredible talent and dedication, and the perserverance to make it not only in Hollywood, but also in the real world. One can easily see the variety of talents represented by our student body when walking through the "new building", shops, gym, and hallways. Whether it be a glass mosaic, a blue print for a gazebo, a computer music composition, a barbeque at lunch, or just the dedication each of us has to wake up and come to school every morning, we put forth our full effort on every test. This is what separates Lick-Wilmerding from other high schools and makes each one of us stars in our own little Hollywood.

...THIS WORLD WAS MEANT FOR ME
last complicated
the hardest to learn is the cloaked the moon
your heart the red sun,
my heart the red
the heart may freeze or it can burn. the pain will ease if i can learn.
there is no future.
there is no past. i live this moment as my last.
REALITY

Keep a fire for the human race,
let your prayers go drifting into space;
you never know what will be coming down.
Perhaps a better world is drawing near,
just as eas'ly it could all disappear
along with whatever meaning you might have found.
Don't let the uncertainty turn you around.
Go on and make a joyful sound.

Into a dancer you have grown from a seed somebody else has thrown.
Go on ahead and throw some seeds of your own.

What a _____ four years.
I don't really know how to say it, check my senior will and I may have figured it out. I'll miss you all, but life just continues, no moment like the present to enjoy life until you croak, have a smoke, take a big big toke and exhale, wow, I feel better already.

And now, the doling out of thanks:

I'd like to thank the social group formerly known as the Webclub, for being the great group of people you know you are. It's been fun.

I'd like to thank my teachers for, well, teaching me stuff. And passing me. That's important too.

I'd like to thank my family, for doing all those familial types of things like being supportive and encouraging and helpful and, of course, paying for the whole shmorgasborg.

Finally, I'd like to thank all you crazy people that have had to deal with me for the last 4 years. I can't imagine that it was easy.

Well, that's it. So long, sayonara, hasta la vista, and so forth.

We emerge like ground snakes to the river side of the world
waking from a series of dreams or birth canals kissing till they open like lilies
We emerge like ground snakes to the river side of the world and the boys squatting with their slender hipped guitars and gentle boat prows like toungues parting the lips on the water and the pink punching lightening in the far corner of the sky
all obscurely welcome

I am Invincible

The fact is, I haven't died yet, so I don't ever plan on dying.
Besides, The world is a perception of my imagination.
If i were you, the world would be different.
But I am not you.
So the only way you are going to change the world
is if you change me.
Everything I think is fact,
and if I don't think about something, it doesn't exist.
Thus the only way the world will end is if I die.
Everyone knows that only crazy people and chicken little think the world is coming to an end
So any one who says I am going to die has been hit on the head with too many Acorns.

Therefore, I am Invincible.

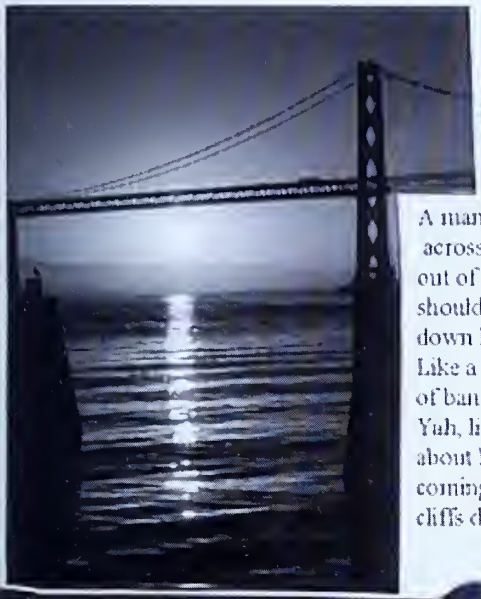
CASSIE

When I pulled out my basket of costumes and worn dress up moments, I didn't know if I would have enough imagination to take me where I wanted to go. Relatively oblivious travels across the bay became a lesson in discovery of mistakes and new designs. And when did I find so much truth?Love, justice, laughter, experimentation, and humanity. In this pile every activist creates herself, but doesn't always have a place to put it all.Thank you Lick, friends, Bay Area, and inspirations of my collection.

I'll take everything with me.



Miss You

A man woke up one morning. After smearing eyegoop across his brow he went on a little jaunt. He stepped out of his cottage and, OOPS, fell off of a cliff. He, well, should we say, forgot to look. While a bit surprised, on his way down his life, as they say, flashed before his eyes. (that can happen) Like a bowl of cherries, or rather, a bowl of Jell-O with those chunks of banana , he laughed and jiggled his way down.

Yuh, life was good. Oh? you ask, is this man suicidal. Is he happy about his up coming future? Knaw, he just couldn't believe that his 'short coming' could be anything more than a good leg-slapper. "Come on, cliffs don't just land on your doorstep".

I missed you Lick.

It seems like such a long 2 yrs as 1999 splits toward sepearate futures. I had doubts about what Lick would mean to me but I take away memories that I hope won't fade away into the fuliginous blur of school days. If anyone asked, I maintain that there are things about my 2 yrs at Lick I would change, but you take life the way it comes and it makes you who you are. I want to give an encompassing blanket thanx to everyone at Lick and special thanks to my friends, my family, 1999, and 2001, my surrogate class. So now we part from the flock, to brave new futures. You may never see, hear from, even think about me again, but if you think of me, think something sweet of me, and know you are in my thoughts.
